Women in Leadership

OUR NICHE

We don't exclusively work with women, but it is our targeted demographic.

After a few years of executive coaching, I have learned how difficult it can be for busy, driven professional women to slow down long enough to focus on their leadership development. And if they are feeling dissatisfaction or confusion in their work, it's hard to know where to turn for confidential guidance and support – and the results they crave!

At Revel Coach, we find the best results when there is a tangible business priority or problem to solve. Along the way to exploring solutions for her, we also uncover real-time leadership, organizational development and time management skills to enhance.

Although I am confident that there is no better time than NOW for women to be successful at work and home, we purposefully create a safe place for our clients to explore the unique challenges & opportunities that come with the working mom journey.

WHY HIRE US?

Our Customer Engagement Strategy

Hiring a consultant or coach doesn't need to be complicated. Whether it's a short-term priority (1–3 months) or a long-term engagement (monthly retainer), we make it easy to engage as needed.

Our Personal Experience

Coaching is one of the fastest-growing industries for a reason. There are many coaches out there, but there aren't many who can leverage their personal experience as an executive, coach and mother.

Our Client Experience

We've designed a comprehensive, yet practical coaching experience. Since we blend the disciplines of executive coaching, business consulting, and mentorship, our clients feel supported and empowered.

Our Network

Our members are women who share a passion for mentoring and supporting one another. We range from experienced executives & entrepreneurs to stay-at-home moms who are leaders in the community. Unlike any other network, we are a team of women ready to go above and beyond so you never feel alone.
